

Privacy Policy

The Britni Foundation is serious about protecting your privacy-whether you are an applicant or just requesting information. We use information collected about you only to process your information, and to make The Britni Foundation a more useful and valuable service.

All required information is kept in-house and is not shared with third parties, except in cases where special promotions are offered through a Britni Foundation partner. Optional information that we may request is kept in-house. We request this information from applicants so that we can add relevant features.

It is not our current policy to release detailed personal applicant information. However, The Britni Foundation may offer special promotions through a partner. If you take advantage of a special offer, you are authorizing The Britni Foundation to provide only that partner with the relevant information needed to fulfill the offer. You become a customer or recipient of that partner, and are therefore under the guidelines of that partner's privacy policy. If this is of concern to you, be sure to check the privacy policy of that particular partner.

In Summary:

The Britni Foundation is committed to protecting your privacy. Personal information that we collect about you stays within The Britni Foundation, unless otherwise specified; and any information distributed to third parties is reported in aggregate only. We do not give or sell your information to anyone without your authorization.

We reserve the right to change, modify, add or remove portions of this policy. If our privacy policy changes, you will be notified immediately as to the specific modifications.
